

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PART ONE THEORY AND LITERATURE SURVEY

Chapter I. Introduction	2
Chapter II. Literature Review	6
2.1. Introduction	6
2.2. Conceptualisation of cultural diplomacy through soft power	6
2.3. Culture as part, foundation and resource of foreign policy	11
2.4. The foundations and orientations of Moroccan foreign policy	17
2.4.1. Definitions and key-concepts	17
2.4.2. Moroccan Foreign Policy: three environments of influence	18
2.4.2.1. The domestic environment	19
2.4.2.2. The regional environment	20
2.4.2.3. The international environment	23
2.5. Decision-making structures: “bandwagon effect” and centralisation	27
2.6. Conclusion	29
Chapter III. The Theoretical and Conceptual Framework	31
3.1. Introduction	31
3.2. Theoretical framework: social theory of constructivism	31
3.2.1. Wendt’s constructivism: the intellectual and philosophical linkage	32
3.2.2. Constructivism, realism, and neoliberalism: birds of the same feather?	34
3.2.3. Ideas, identities, and interests: states as intentional actors	36
3.3. The constructivist critique of structure: three cultures of anarchy	39
3.4. The conceptual framework: a “rudder” for Morocco’s cultural diplomacy	46

PART TWO THE DYNAMICS OF CULTURAL DIPLOMACY: MOROCCO'S NATIONAL PROJECTION AND CULTURAL RELATIONS

Chapter IV. National projection	50
4.1. Introduction	50
4.2. Brief history of Moroccan cultural diplomacy	50
4.3. Prescriptive framework: Morocco’s corporate and type identities and the dominant political culture	54
4.4. Evaluation of the dominant political culture of Morocco and its implication on national projection	60
4.4.1. Political culture: parochial and subject	60
4.4.2. Clientelism	62
4.5. Civil society and cultural diplomacy: the role of non-state actors	64
4.6. Substantive tools and assets of Moroccan cultural diplomacy	68
4.6.1. The performing arts: music, dance, and theatre	68

4.6.2. Educational exchanges	69
4.6.3. Book diplomacy and Literature	70
4.6.4. Broadcasting and media diplomacy	72
4.6.5. Film and cinema	74
4.7. Cultural industries and creative economies	75
4.8. State/culture axes of convergence and the management of international cultural policy	79
4.8.1. National aggrandisement and economic reductionism	80
4.8.2. Public patronage of culture	82
4.8.3. Media regulation	83
4.8.4. Negotiated construction of cultural identity	85
4.9. Conclusion	88

Chapter V. Cultural relations 92

5.1. Introduction	92
5.2. The management of the international environment through cultural relations	92
5.3. Role identity/identities of the Moroccan state: two challenges to cultural representation	96
5.3.1. Exoticism	97
5.3.2. Folklorisation	99
5.4. Conclusion	100

Bibliography 103

Appendices 120