

CONTENTS

|                                                                      |            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| About the Author                                              | ix         |
| Acknowledgements                                              | xi         |
| How to Use This Book                                          | xiii       |
| Part 1 Essential Theory                                       | 1   |
| 1 What is Learning?                                                  | 3          |
| 2 What is Teaching?                                                  | 25         |
| 3 What is a Curriculum?                                              | 53         |
| 4 What is Backwards Planning?                                        | 67         |
| Part 2 Essential Practice: What Are You Teaching?             | 83  |
| 5 How to Use the Curriculum When You Plan                            | 85         |
| 6 How to Plan for What Your Pupils Will Learn, Not What They Will Do | 97         |
| 7 How to Plan So Talk Supports Learning                              | 113        |
| Part 3 Essential Practice: How Will You Teach?                | 129 |
| 8 How to Structure a Lesson                                          | 131        |
| 9 How to Plan for Quality Interactions                               | 143        |
| 10 How to Plan for What Your Pupils Will Do in Your Lessons          | 155        |

|    |                                                                          |     |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 11 | How to Plan for Scaffolding and Modelling                                | 171 |
| 12 | How to Plan So That Your Pupils Remember What You Have Taught            | 181 |
| 13 | How to Plan So You Can Find Out If Your Pupils Are Learning              | 193 |
|    | Conclusion: Getting Better: Five Things a New Teacher Should Know | 207 |
|    | Appendix: 42 Words to Help You Think and Talk About Teaching      | 213 |
|    | Index                                                             | 217 |