

Contents

1	The Preamble (178a1–181d7)	1
	References	13
2	Nicias' and Laches' Speeches on 'Fighting in Armor' (Hoplomachia) (181d8–184d4)	15
	References	25
3	Socrates' Proposed Methodology (184d5–187b7)	27
	3.1 'That for the Sake of Which' (Hou Heneka)	31
	References	37
4	Nicias and Laches Give Their Consent to Socrates' Cross-Questioning (187b8–189d3)	39
	4.1 Laches' Turn to Accept the Socratic Elenchus	42
	References	45
5	Socrates Initiates the Dialectic Discussion (189d4–190e3)	47
	References	53
6	Laches' First Definition of Andreia (190e4–192b8)	55
	References	60
7	Laches' Second Definition of Andreia (192b9–194b7)	61
	References	67
8	Invitation of Nicias to the Discussion (194b8–194e10)	69
	References	72
9	Nicias' Definition of Andreia and Its Elenchus Led by Laches (194e11–196b7)	73
	References	77

10 Socrates' First Examination of Nicias' Definition, After Laches Steps Back (196c1–197e5)	79
References	83
11 Socrates' Refutation of Nicias' Definition (197e6–200a3)	85
References	90
12 The End of the Dialogue (200a4–201c5)	93
References	98
Conclusion	99
Index	103