

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	xiii
Acknowledgments	xiv
Notes on Transliteration and Style	xvii
Introduction	1
Why Study the Turkic Peoples? Why Do They Matter?	1
Who Were the Turks? How Should We Define a Turk?	3
Natural and Historical Setting	6
1 The Earliest, Nomad Turkic Peoples of the Mongolian Steppe: Tiele, Türks, and Uyghurs	12
The Tiele: The Earliest Turkic People	12
Who Were the Earliest Turkic People in History?	12
The Dingling/Tiele during the Xiongnu Period	13
The Gaoche/Tiele and the Xianbei, Rouran, and Tabgach Empires	14
The First Tiele State: The Gaoche State in Jungharia	16
The Tiele and the Türks	16
The Xueyantuo Qaghanate	19
The Tiele and the Fall of the Second Türk Qaghanate	19
The Türks: The Founders of the First Turkic Empire	21

- Who Were the Ashina Türks? 21
- The Formation of the First Turkic Empire 25
- The Split of the Türk Qaghanate into the Eastern and Western Türk States 28
- The Fall of the Western Türks and the Rise of the Türgesh Qaghanate 28
- The Rise and Fall of the Second Türk Qaghanate 29
- The Uyghurs: The Founders of the Tiele Empire 34*
 - The Non-Türk Identity of the Uyghurs 35
 - The Pre-Imperial Uyghurs 36
 - The Rise of the Uyghur Empire 36
 - The Uyghur Cities in the Steppe 37
 - Bögü Qaghan and His Conversion to Manichaeism 39
 - The Decline and Fall of the Uyghur Qaghanate 39
 - The Uyghur Successor States in the Turfan Oasis and the Gansu Corridor 40
 - The Uyghurs in the Mongol Empire 41
- 2 The Various Turkic Peoples of South Siberia, Central Asia, and the Qipchaq Steppe: Qirghiz, Khazars, Bulghars, Qarakhanid Türks, and Qipchaqs 48
 - The Qirghiz: A Turkic or Turkicized People of South Siberia 48*
 - The Origins of the Qirghiz 48
 - The Pre-“Imperial” Qirghiz 51
 - The Qirghiz “Empire”: Breaking with the Orkhon Traditions 52
 - The Qirghiz and the Mongols 53
 - The Qirghiz during the Post-Mongol Period 54
 - The Khazars: The Jewish Successors of the Türks 56*
 - The Origins of the Khazars 56
 - The Formation and Consolidation of the Khazar Qaghanate 57
 - Pax Khazarica or Khazar Peace 58
 - The Collapse of the Khazar Empire 58
 - Conversion to Judaism 58
 - The Bulghars: An Oghur Turkic People 65*

- The Origins of the Bulgars 65
- The Bulghar States: Great Bulgharia, Danubian
Bulgharia, and Volga Bulgharia 66
- The Qarakhanid Türks: The First Muslim Türks of Central Asia* 68
- The Origins of the Qarakhanids 69
- The Qarakhanid Conversion to Islam and Conquest of Transoxiana 70
- The Eastern and Western Qarakhanid Qaghanates 71
- Seljuk and Qara Khitai Vassalage 74
- The Demise of the Qarakhanids 74
- The Qipchaqs: The Turkic People of the Qipchaq Steppe* 75
- The Origins of the Qipchaqs 76
- The Birth of the “Qipchaq” Steppe 77
- The Qipchaqs in Eurasian History 78
- Qipchaqs in the Mongol Empire 78
- 3 The Oghuz Turkic Peoples of West Asia and the Middle East: Seljuks, Ottomans, and Other Turkmen Groups 84
- The Oghuz: A Turkic People of the Perso-Islamic World* 84
- The Origins of the Oghuz 84
- The Oghuz Tribal Union or the Oghuz Yabghu State 85
- The Seljuks: The Founders of a Sunni Muslim
Turkic Empire* 90
- The Origins of the Seljuks 90
- The Seljuk Empire 91
- The Seljuk Sultanate of Rum 93
- The Ottomans: The Founders of a World Empire* 94
- The Origins and Formation of the Ottomans 94
- The Ottoman Empire 97
- The Turkmen Groups of Iran* 101
- The Qara Qoyunlu 101
- The Aq Qoyunlu 101
- The Safavids: a Turko-Persian Empire 102
- The Afsharid Turkmen Empire 104
- The Qajars: The Last Turkmen State of Iran 105

4	The Turko-Mongols (or “Mongol Turks”) of the Qipchaq Steppe and Central Asia	109
	The Chaghatays: The Turko-Mongols (or “Mongol Turks”) of Central Asia	109
	The Origins of the Chaghatays and Their Identity	109
	The Timurid Empire	114
	The Mughal Empire	119
	The Moghul Khanate	124
	The Uzbeks: The Turko-Mongols (or “Mongol Turks”) from the Qipchaq Steppe	126
	The Origins and Formation of the Uzbeks	127
	The Shibanid Uzbek States of Central Asia	129
	The Uzbek Dynasties in Transoxiana (Mā warā’ al-nahr)	129
	The Khanate of Khoqand: The Uzbek State in Ferghana	134
	The Khanate of Khiva: The Uzbek Dynasties in Khorezm	137
	The Qazaqs: The Eastern Wing of the Jochid Ulus	140
	The Origins and Formation of the Qazaqs	140
	The Qazaq Khanate	142
	The Crimean Tatars: The Western Wing of the Jochid Ulus	149
	The Origins and Formation of the Crimean Tatars	149
	The Crimean Khanate	151
	Epilogue	163
	Appendix I: The Turkic Language Family	170
	Appendix II: The Ancestries of The Turkic Peoples	172
	Chronology	175
	Bibliography	181
	Index	193