

Contents

| | |
|---|----------|
| List of figures | viii |
| List of contributors | ix |
| Series editor introduction | xi |
| Acknowledgments | xiv |
| | |
| Introduction | 1 |
| BRENT J. STEELE, HARRY D. GOULD AND OLIVER KESSLER | |
| | |
| PART I | |
| Interpreting Constructivism | 9 |
| | |
| 1 Third generation Constructivism: between tactics and strategy | 11 |
| PIKI ISH-SHALOM | |
| | |
| 2 A tactical guide to conceptual analysis | 24 |
| HANNES PELTONEN | |
| | |
| 3 Social Constructivism and actor-network theory: bridging the divide | 38 |
| ALEXANDER D. BARDER | |
| | |
| 4 Tactics of a constructivist pedagogy | 51 |
| JAMIE FRUEH AND JEREMY YOUDE | |

| | | |
|---|--|------------|
| PART II | | |
| Discourse, Interpretation and Method | | 61 |
| 5 Narrative analysis as a tactical bridge | | 63 |
| JELENA SUBOTIC | | |
| 6 Identities as tactics: exposing relational foreign policy as story | | 75 |
| AMY SKONIECZNY | | |
| 7 Constructivism, computational social-relational methods, and multiple correspondence analysis | | 88 |
| DAVID M. MCCOURT | | |
| PART III | | |
| Constructivism and the Interpretive Methods of the Self | | 103 |
| 8 When home is part of the field: experiencing uncanniness of home in field conversations | | 105 |
| XYMENA KUROWSKA | | |
| 9 A reflexivity that works for us: ethics beyond norms | | 117 |
| JACK L. AMOUREUX | | |
| 10 Feminist curiosity as method: on (limits to) tactical uses of Constructivism | | 138 |
| ANNE-MARIE D'AOUST | | |
| 11 Researching within the instability of meaning: decolonial voices and practices | | 157 |
| MARCOS S. SCAUSO | | |
| 12 Constructing a scholar on the road less traveled | | 170 |
| M. L. DERAISMES COMBES | | |
| 13 Tactics all the way down: the politics of exteriority in Constructivism | | 184 |
| BRENT J. STEELE | | |

| | | |
|--|--|------------|
| PART IV | | |
| Construction and the Interpretation of History and Texts | | 201 |
| 14 How to do (differing) things with words: world-making and (or) meaning-making | | 203 |
| HARRY D. GOULD | | |
| 15 Stubbornly stumbling into making history: Constructivism and historical international relations | | 215 |
| HALVARD LEIRA AND BENJAMIN DE CARVALHO | | |
| Conclusions | | 232 |
| CECILIA LYNCH AND NICHOLAS G. ONUF | | |
| Index | | 252 |