

Contents

PREFACE	viii
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	ix
Introduction	1
Virtual taxpayers	1
The national state caught between world economy and individualization: what is to be done?	8
The globalization shock: a belated discussion	13
PART I Dimensions, Controversies, Definitions	17
1 The World Horizon Opens Up: On the Sociology of Globalization	22
Sociology as the power to create intellectual order: the container theory of society	23
Transnational social spaces	26
Logics, dimensions and consequences of globalization	30
2 Transnational Civil Society: How a Cosmopolitan Vision is Emerging	64
'Methodological nationalism' and its refutation: a provisional appraisal	64
Symbolically staged mass boycotts: cosmopolitan initiatives and global subpolitics	68
Place polygamy: towards globalization in personal life	72
On the possibility of inter-cultural critique	77

3	Contours of World Society: Rival Perspectives	87
	Third cultures or global civil society?	88
	Cosmopolitan democracy	93
	Capitalist world society	95
	World risk society: the meltdown of the iron cage of modernity	98
	Global society without democratic politics	101
	Prospects for a transnational state	108
	PART II Perspectives	115
4	Errors of Globalism	117
	Metaphysics of the world market	118
	So-called free world trade	119
	Economic internationalization, not globalization	119
	The staging of risk	121
	Absence of politics as revolution	122
	The linearity myth	123
	Critique of catastrophist thinking	124
	Conservative protectionism	125
	Green protectionism	126
	Red protectionism	127
5	Responses to Globalization	129
	International cooperation	130
	Transnational state or 'inclusive sovereignty'	132
	Joint ownership of capital	136
	Reorientation of educational policy	137
	Are transnational corporations undemocratic or anti-democratic?	138
	An alliance for civil labour	140
	What comes after the Volkswagen export nation? New cultural, political and economic goals	143
	Experimental cultures, niche markets and the self-renewal of society	147
	Public entrepreneurs, people working for themselves	151
	A social contract against exclusion?	152
6	Europe and Globalization	156
	Conclusion	161
	Decline à la Carte: The Brazilianization of Europe	161

FURTHER READING

164

NOTES

166

INDEX

175