

PART II

Problematizing International Theory: How and Why 'Bringing the Non-Western World In' Overcomes the Thin Eurocentric Conception of the International 73

- 4 Challenging the Illusion of Theoretical 'Internationalness' 75
Karen Smith
- 5 Being International and/or Global? 90
Zeynep Gülşah Çapan
- 6 On the Logic of Non-Western Theoretical Argument 106
A. Layug
- 7 Identity, Knowledge, Dialogue and the International 126
Richard Ned Lebow

PART III

Globalizing International Theory: Constructing a Non-Eurocentric Thick Conception of the International 137

- 8 Ethno-Culturalism in World History: Race, Identity and 'the Global' 139
Joseph Leigh and Christopher Murray
- 9 Pluriversality in Islamic Political Thought 165
Faiz Sheikh
- 10 International or Not, Being Human Is Being 'Global' 181
Deepshikha Shahi
- 11 Indigenous Disruptions: How Indigenous Self-Determination Practices Can Deepen and Expand International Theory 200
Sheryl Lightfoot
- 12 International Theory and Critique in Unusual Places: From Lusotropicalism to Anti-colonial Poetics 219
Branwen Gruffydd Jones

PART IV

Conclusion: Reflections on Globalizing International Theory 23913 Thick/Thin as Multifaceted Metaphor 241
David L. BlaneyIndex 254