

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	viii
Introduction	1
1 The Concept of Constituent Power	23
The Normative Point of the Concept of Constituent Power 25
Agency 25
Foundation 27
Holism 28
Collective Political Agency? G. Teubner's Societal Constitutionalism 28
A Public Law Bias? Constituent Power as a Reductionist Conception of Democratic Agency 33
Constituent Power as Anti-Liberal? D. Dyzenhaus on Normative Legal Theories and Law's Authority 37
Conclusion 39
2 Constituent Power and the Modern State	45
Non-State Politics and the Constitutional "Mindset" 47
N. Walker and the Meta-political Function of Constitutionalism 47
M. Kumm and the Cosmopolitan Paradigm 52
G. Teubner's Societal Constitutionalism and the Problematic of Civil Society Institutions 56

	Sovereignty as Integral to Modern Constitutionalism	61
	M. Loughlin's Epistemic Approach	62
	Constitutionalism, Ancient and Modern	65
	Conclusion	67
3	A Reconfiguration of Public Authority?	78
	Is Sovereignty Anachronistic? M. Loughlin and the Political Reality of the State as the "Institution of Institutions"	80
	A Free-Standing Political Domain? C. Thornhill and Rights as the Functionally Dominant Element of the Public-Legal Order	82
	An Impact on the Normative Resonance of the Concept of Constituent Power?	88
	The Issue of Foundation	89
	The Issue of Democratic Agency	91
	The Issue of the Holistic Nature of the Ambition of Constituent Power	92
	Conclusion	93
4	Translating Constituent Power on a Supranational or Global Scale	98
	A Self-Standing Political Pact: N. Walker's Post-State Foundational Constitutionalism	100
	A Post-State Constituent Power: U. Preuss and Freedom Inter Socios as the Basic Fact of Society	104
	Non-Political Constituent Power: G. Teubner and the Principle of Self-Contestation in Transnational Regimes	107
	Conclusion	115
5	A Post-Constituent Order?	121
	The Containment Strategy	122
	Destituent Power and "Pouvoir Irritant"	125
	Juridical and Anti-juridical Conceptions of Destituent Power	126
	A "Pouvoir Irritant"	127
	A Post-Constituent Order?	132
	Conclusion	134
6	Constituent Power and "Narratives of Protest"	140
	Transformative Protests and the Language of Constituent Power in Processes of Constitutionalization Beyond the State	141
	Constituent Power in Public Narratives About the EU	147
	Conclusion	153

7 A New Narrative of Public Authority?	159
Public Autonomy 161
Democratic Authorization and Collective Political Agency in Mixed Polities 169

Index	176
--------------	-----