

CONTENTS

Introduction: Conceptualizing Populism	1
I Anatomy
1 A Conception of "The People": The People as One Body	15
2 A Theory of Democracy: Direct, Polarized, Immediate	21
3 A Mode of Representation: A Leader Embodying the People	27
4 A Politics and a Philosophy of Economics: National Protectionism	32
5 A Regime of Passions and Emotions	37
6 The Unity and Diversity of Populisms	45
II History
1 History of Populist Moments I: Caesarism and Illiberal Democracy in France	59
2 History of Populist Moments II: The Years 1890–1914	70
3 History of Populist Moments III: The Latin American Laboratory	81
4 Conceptual History: Populism as a Democratic Form	89
III Critique
Introduction	107
1 The Issue of Referendums	109

CONTENTS

2	Polarized Democracy vs. Pluralized Democracy	125
3	From an Imaginary People to a Constructable Democratic Society	135
4	The Horizon of Democratship: The Issue of Irreversibility	144
	Conclusion: The Spirit of an Alternative	154
	Annex: History of the Word "Populism"	160
	Notes	172
	Works Cited	201
	Index	212