

Contents

List of illustrations xi

Part I Key concepts and tools

1

1 Key economic concepts	3
1.1 Introduction	3
1.2 Scarcity and opportunity cost	4
1.3 Marginal analysis	5
1.4 Ceteris paribus	5
1.5 Correlation and causation	6
1.6 Concluding comments	6
2 Key mathematical tools	9
2.1 Introduction	9
2.2 Equations	9
2.3 Differentiation	11
2.4 Elasticity	12
2.5 Simultaneous equations	12
2.6 Concluding comments	13
3 Key strategic tools	15
3.1 Introduction	15
3.2 The essentials of game theory	15
3.3 Simultaneous-move games	16
3.4 Some types of simultaneous-move games	20
3.5 Sequential games	22
3.6 Concluding comments	26

Part II Gains from trade

27

4 Trade and the PPF	29
4.1 Introduction	29
4.2 Gains from exchange	29
4.3 Gains from specialisation	30
4.4 Concluding comments	36

5 Bargaining	39
5.1 Introduction	39
5.2 Bargaining and surplus	39
5.3 Take-it-or-leave-it negotiations	40
5.4 Multiple-offer bargaining	42
5.5 Some caveats	43
5.6 Concluding comments	44

Part III Market fundamentals 47

6 Demand	49
6.1 Introduction	49
6.2 Benefit and willingness to pay	49
6.3 Individual demand	50
6.4 Market demand	52
6.5 Concluding comments	53
7 Production and costs	55
7.1 Introduction	55
7.2 The short run and long run	55
7.3 Production	56
7.4 Short-run costs	59
7.5 Long-run costs	62
7.6 Total revenue, total cost and economic profit	63
7.7 Concluding comments	64
8 Supply	67
8.1 Introduction	67
8.2 Firm supply	67
8.3 Market supply	69
8.4 Concluding comments	70
9 Equilibrium and welfare	71
9.1 Introduction	71
9.2 Market equilibrium	71
9.3 Comparative static analysis	72
9.4 Welfare	74
9.5 Pareto efficiency	78
9.6 Concluding comments	79
10 Elasticity	81
10.1 Introduction	81
10.2 Measuring elasticity	81

10.3 Applications	83
10.4 Concluding comments	89

Part IV Types of markets

91

11 Introduction to markets	93
11.1 Introduction to the four types of markets	93
12 Perfect competition	95
12.1 Introduction	95
12.2 Characteristics of perfect competition	95
12.3 Supply in the short run	96
12.4 Supply in the long run	99
12.5 Market supply in the long run	102
12.6 Concluding comments	105
13 Monopoly	107
13.1 Introduction	107
13.2 Characteristics of a monopoly	107
13.3 The single-price monopolist	108
13.4 Welfare under the single-price monopolist	111
13.5 Price discrimination	114
13.6 Natural monopoly	120
13.7 Regulating a natural monopoly	121
13.8 Concluding comments	123
14 Monopolistic competition	125
14.1 Introduction	125
14.2 Characteristics of monopolistic competition	125
14.3 The short run	126
14.4 The long run	127
14.5 Welfare under monopolistic competition	129
14.6 Concluding comments	129
15 Oligopoly	131
15.1 Introduction	131
15.2 Characteristics of an oligopoly	132
15.3 Simultaneous-move games	132
15.4 Product choice: an application of a coordination game	135
15.5 Sequential games	137
15.6 Concluding comments	142

Part V Market failures 143

16 Price regulation, taxes and subsidies	145
16.1 Introduction	145
16.2 Price regulation	145
16.3 Taxes and subsidies	149
16.4 Concluding comments	159
17 Externalities	161
17.1 Introduction	161
17.2 External costs and benefits	161
17.3 The problem with externalities	164
17.4 Solutions to externalities	167
17.5 Government solutions to externalities	169
17.6 Concluding comments	174
18 Public goods and common resources	175
18.1 Introduction	175
18.2 Public goods	175
18.3 Common resources and the Tragedy of the Commons	177
18.4 Concluding comments	178

Part VI International trade 179

19 International trade	181
19.1 Introduction	181
19.2 The welfare effects of international trade	181
19.3 Barriers to trade	185
19.4 Arguments against free trade	190
19.5 Concluding comments	191

Part VII Economics in practice 193

20 Some other markets	195
20.1 Introduction	195
20.2 The housing market	195
20.3 The labour market	198
20.4 The capital market	201
20.5 Concluding comments	204

21 Economic policy	205
21.1 Introduction	205
21.2 Economic policy in practice: some examples	205
21.3 The Theory of Second Best	207
21.4 The policy cycle	208
21.5 Concluding comments	209
22 Economics and evidence	211
22.1 Introduction	211
22.2 Econometrics and statistics	211
22.3 Experimental economics	212
22.4 Behavioural economics	213
22.5 Concluding comments	214
Part VIII Review	215
23 Questions & answers	217
Index	253