

Contents

1	Introduction	1
2	Angela Merkel as Europe's New Hope?	7
2.1	Germany's First Female Chancellor Angela Merkel Faces Major European Policy Challenges	7
2.2	The Chancellor's European Policy Debut: Angela Merkel as Europe's New Star?	10
3	Germany and the Lisbon Treaty	15
3.1	The Revitalization of the Constitutional Process	15
3.2	Safeguarding the Substance of the Constitutional Treaty as New Strategy	18
3.3	Successes of the German Council Presidency for the Reform Process	21
3.3.1	The Chancellor's Herculean Task and Her Commitment to Europe	21
3.3.2	In the Run-Up to the Decisive EU-Summit of June 2007	24
3.4	The June 2007 Summit: A Breakthrough	27
3.4.1	Summit Results: (Almost) All Disputes Resolved	27
3.4.2	The New Contractual Bases: Substance Preservation with Cutbacks	29
3.4.3	Germany's Contribution for the New Treaty: Comments and Assessments	31
3.5	The Lisbon Treaty on Hold 2007–2009	35
3.5.1	The 2007 Intergovernmental Conference	35
3.5.2	Renewed Dramas in the Ratification Process: Ireland and Others	36

4	Germany's Role in the Euro Crisis: Europe's Disciplinarian or Indispensable Leader?	39
4.1	The Subprime Debt Crisis Grips Europe	40
4.1.1	In View of the Global Financial Crisis: "Angela the Fainthearted"	41
4.1.2	Europe Sets About Regulating the Financial Markets	43
4.2	Germany in the Euro Crisis: Merkel as Europe's Only Leader?	45
4.2.1	Initial German Hesitancy	45
4.2.2	Germany Commits to Euro Rescue—and Becomes Leading Power	47
4.3	New Euro Governance: Strong German Influence	51
4.3.1	The Fiscal Compact—Merkel's Success?	51
4.3.2	Merkel's Concessions in the Rescue Course	54
4.4	Euro Rescue—Final Act: A Temporary Grexit as Solution?	55
4.5	Permanent Loss of Reputation for Angela Merkel and Germany?	58
5	Angela Merkel and the Refugee Crisis of 2015: Events, Decisions and Consequences	61
5.1	Pre-2015: No Common EU Immigration and Asylum Policy in Sight	62
5.2	The Culmination Year 2015 and Merkel's "Wir Schaffen Das" ("We Can Do This")	63
5.2.1	A Long-Predicted Crisis	63
5.2.2	Merkel Leaves the German Borders Open	64
5.2.3	Explanatory Approaches for Merkel's "Exceptional Humanitarian Decision"	67
5.3	The Refugee Crisis Permanently Divides the EU	70
5.3.1	Highly Contentious: The Distribution of Refugees	71
5.3.2	The EU-Turkey Refugee Agreement	74
5.4	EU Migration and Refugee Policy—A Permanent Construction Site	76
6	EU Enlargement Policy in the Merkel Era	81
6.1	Deceleration of EU Enlargement Policy After Eastern Enlargement	82
6.1.1	More Restrictive Framework Conditions in EU Enlargement Policy	83
6.1.2	Germany Pre-2016 on the Topic of Turkey's Accession	85
6.2	Current Accession Prospects of the Western Balkans and Turkey	87
6.2.1	Many Hurdles on the Way to the EU Accession of the Western Balkans	87

6.2.2	Germany and the Accession of the Western Balkans . . .	91
6.2.3	Does Turkey Still Have an Accession Perspective?	91
7	Germany's Contributions to EU Foreign and Security Policy	95
7.1	A Short Story of Europe's Foreign, Security and Defense Policy	95
7.2	Germany and Europe's Foreign, Security and Defense Policy 2005–2016	98
7.2.1	Merkel Stands by the CFSP and CSDP Innovations of the Constitutional Treaty	98
7.2.2	Germany's Part in the Erosion of CSDP	100
7.2.3	Germany and the CFSP 2005–2016	102
7.3	Germany and EU Foreign and Security Policy 2016–2021	105
7.3.1	Brexit as a Catalyst: Recent Advancements in CSDP	106
7.3.2	A European Army? German Positions	109
7.3.3	Germany's Contributions to Strengthening EU Foreign Policy: A New Role Model	112
7.4	Is a Path Emerging for a More Globally Capable EU Foreign Policy?	113
8	EU Climate Protection Policy and Germany's Ambivalent Role	117
8.1	The EU As a Climate Policy Leader: 20-20-20 by 2020	118
8.1.1	Setting the Course for Kyoto II	118
8.1.2	German Climate Plans After the "Energiewende" 2011	122
8.2	The EU Targets for the Paris Climate Agreement: Minus 40% CO ₂ Emissions by 2030	124
8.3	Germany: From a Blocker to a Pioneer for the EU's 2020 Climate Policy Breakthrough?	126
8.3.1	Angela Merkel's Change of Mind on Climate Neutrality	127
8.3.2	Europe's 2020 Climate Policy Breakthrough: Regaining Global Leadership	130
8.3.3	Federal Constitutional Court Forces Further Climate Protection	131
8.4	Global Climate Leader EU—An Outlook	132
9	Increasingly Limited Scope for German European Policy: Parliament and Federal Constitutional Court	135
9.1	Bundesländer, Bundesrat, and Bundestag	135
9.2	The Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) As an Increasingly Strict Controller of German European Policy	137
9.2.1	Fundamental Rights Protection as a Priority of the FCC	138

9.2.2	Parliament's Responsibility for Integration: From the Maastricht to the Lisbon Judgment	139
9.2.3	Lisbon Ruling and Constitutional Identity: Limiting German European Policy	140
9.2.4	The ECB in the Sight of the Federal Constitutional Court: OMT and PSPP Proceedings	142
9.2.5	The Federal Constitutional Court Relents—A Sustained Change of Course?	144
10	The Corona Reconstruction Fund (Next Generation EU) and the Regime of Conditionality to Enforce the Rule of Law: Historic Breakthroughs under German Council Presidency 2020	149
10.1	The Path to the “Next Generation EU” Corona Reconstruction Fund: Angela Merkel’s Breach of Taboo	149
10.1.1	The Franco-German Initiative of May 2020	150
10.1.2	The Europeanization of the Franco-German Initiative	153
10.2	The Breakthrough Succeeds: Historic Resolutions 2020	154
10.2.1	The July 2020 Summit	154
10.2.2	Fierce Struggle to Protect Rule of Law	156
10.2.3	A Breakthrough in the Fight Against Illiberalism—Is the EU Now a Militant Democracy?	158
10.3	The Innovative Recovery Fund NGEU Is Ready for Use—Also Thanks to Merkel	162
11	German European Policy in the Merkel Era: An Attempt to Take Stock	165
	References	169