

Contents

Anna Kobylińska, Maciej Falski Seismographs of culture. Prolegomena . . . . .	9
Dragan Damjanović Gothic Revival at the borders of Catholic Christianity: State politics, patrons and architects in 19th-century Croatian architecture . . . . .	37
Anna Kobylińska Architects from the periphery: Ján Nepomuk Bobula and Blažej Félix Bulla. Genealogy of localness . . . . .	75
Dominika Kaniecka Zagreb after the 1880 earthquake – The revived city and its architect. . . . .	103
Maciej Falski Architects of a provincial town . . . . .	119
Jasenka Kranjčević Tourism architecture by Czech architects on the Croatian Adriatic coast during the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy . . . . .	139
Michał Burdziński Poets who moved the air: Stanisław Witkiewicz – Dušan Samuel Jurkovič . . . . .	153
Aleksander Łupienko Architects in Galicia and the city. The question of history and modernity before World War I . . . . .	179
Magdalena Bystrzak Languages of interwar progressivism: Friedrich Weinwurm in Bratislava . . . . .	193

Danuta Sosnowska

Beyond the limits – eccentric H. . . . . 211

Index of people . . . . . 237Index of places . . . . . 244