
Contents

Preface	vii
1 A note about my method: subjective topology	1
2 Some considerations of the changing of psychoanalytic terminology	4
3 On constructing a psychoanalytic lexicon	10
4 Starting points: sex and nomination	14
5 Names-of-the-father: a first approach	18
6 Φ : one sex	20
7 Psychoanalytical invariance	22
8 Some preliminary remarks regarding nomination	25
9 Maternal investment	28
10 Symbolic nomination and redoubling	30
11 The link between speech and nomination	34
12 The difficulty of interpretation	37
13 Signifiers 'man', 'woman': semblant of body	43

14	The psychoanalytical group	46
15	The discourse of the hysteric and jouissance	48
16	All-phallic space/non-all phallic space	51
17	Letters and body	56
18	Signifier and symptom	60
19	Mark in signifier	63
20	Sexual difference: a radical alternative	67
21	Return to a remark in signifier	70
22	Formations of voice	72
23	Fourth consistency	77
24	Assumption of nomination	79
25	A return to our psychoanalytical lexicon	82
	Acknowledgements	84
	Bibliography	85
	Index	90